ALTA VISTA MENU

We recommend that meals be taken “family style” at the main dining table. Catering a selection of dishes for a large group to share is more efficient than catering a different meal for every individual guest, bearing in mind that this is a family kitchen and not a public restaurant.

The full menu below is available for a group of guests renting the entire villa or a sizeable group with at least 6 persons eating in family style all together at each meal.

If villa guests in each bedroom-villa are unrelated parties who will be eating separately, we may not be able to offer the full menu, but instead we offer Daily Menu Specials curated from the full menu (Page 9).

However, if Alta Vista is less than 50% full with bedroom-villa guests that are not eating together, it is still possible for our Chef to offer the full menu. The villa manager will advise if this is possible.

We request that you order lunch and/or dinner soon after breakfast so that our chef can go to the market to obtain the freshest possible ingredients.

Late requests will depend on in-house availability of ingredients.

If you have special requests, our chef will try to fulfill them, within limits of available ingredients from local markets and his capability.

Please note that as a family kitchen, we are unable to offer strictly Halal or Kosher meals. However there are many menu items without pork or lard.

All prices are in 1000s of Rupiah.

ALTA VISTA DAILY MENU SPECIALS

If Alta Vista is more than 50% occupied by unrelated pairs of guests in each of the bedroom-villas, we ask guests' understanding that it will be very difficult to offer the full menu every day, since we operate a family kitchen rather than a commercial restaurant service. We will instead offer Daily Menu Specials (still with many options) to guests who are not eating family style.

The following Menus have been curated from the full Alta Vista Menu to provide a good variety of items each day.

Guests are welcome to choose one or more of items within the Daily Menu Specials. You do not have to order all the courses if you would like a lighter meal. All orders will be charged per item as detailed in the full menu.

The Children's Menu and Sandwiches Menu will always be available.
